LISTENING TO CALIFORNIA'S 3RD DISTRICT

HomeIssuesContact UsNewsServicesBiography3rd DistrictCommittees

Dear Friend,

Each semester, my office has internship opportunities for individuals from California's Third District. Students from Elk Grove, Copperopolis, Galt, and other cities have had the experience of interning in my Washington, DC office. Furthermore, high school and college students have had internships in my Gold River office from all across the Third District.

Interns in my DC office take constituents on guided tours of the Capitol, research legislation, and help prepare material for committee hearings. Recently, our interns have attended judiciary committee hearings on a broad range of subjects such as immigration, oversight of the Department of Justice, and interrogation policy.

In the Gold River office, interns are responsible for general office duties but also work closely with my district office staff on areas of interest to them. They have the chance to get involved in organizing and preparing events like townhall meetings and researching legislation relevant to their academic studies or interests.

James H. Billington, Librarian of Congress; Daniel O'Stevens, junior fellow intern; and Rep. Dan Lungren pause for a photo in Rep. Lungren's office.

I would also mention that I had a special opportunity this summer to nominate a college student for a junior fellow summer internship with the Library of Congress. Daniel O'Brien of Sacramento worked in the Rare Book and Special Collections Division. With the other 49 fellows, Daniel uncovered previously uncataloged items such as copies of the Virginia and New Jersey Plans which are the basis for our bicameral legislature and an April 1865 issue of the Weekly National Republican that reports on the Lincoln assassination and its aftermath.

Washington, DC has many opportunities for young minds to learn, grow, and find out where they fit in public service. Besides the opportunities I've mentioned, juniors in high school are eligible to participate in the Page Program, and the various government agencies and NGOs in DC offer internships as well. If you have any questions about student opportunities, please call my DC office at
